

Code of Practice for Research Candidature and Supervision

Appendix 1: Induction Information

The University of Southampton will provide, as part of a wider induction programme, information on:

- general information about the institution with particular reference to the postgraduate offer;
- student support and welfare services such as counselling and advice centres;
- a summary of the facilities that will be made available to the student, including the learning support infrastructure;
- relevant health and safety and other legislative information.

Further relevant information should be provided as part of an induction programme run through the Faculty Graduate School. This can usefully include:

- the postgraduate portfolio in the relevant subject(s);
- the institution's registration, enrolment, appeals and complaints procedures, assessment requirements and research degree regulations;
- the names and contact details of the student's supervisors and information about how supervisory arrangements work;
- the institution's research ethics and codes and those of relevant professional bodies and discipline groups, including consideration of issues concerning authorship and intellectual property;
- the institution's expectations of the independence and responsibilities of the student;
- where appropriate, a brief outline of the proposed research programme(s), together with the normal length of study and the facilities that will be made available to the student;
- reference to the challenges that will typically face research students during the course of their studies and where guidance may be sought in the event of difficulties;
- any opportunity for the student representative body to introduce themselves, including specific postgraduate representation;
- social activity, including that provided specifically for postgraduates;
- opportunities for postgraduates to be represented by the student body;
- details about opportunities and requirements for skills development (which includes the core training as detailed by the Doctoral College).

It can be helpful to provide students with an introductory pack providing details about where they can find essential information.
